

David Clarke

Mr. Clarke has an educational background in legal studies. He undertakes research and provides policy advice on a variety of consumer issues that touch upon federal and provincial jurisdictions in Canada. Such consumer issues of concern have included the alternative consumer credit market, identity theft, and electronic commerce.