Dear Dr. Mohammed,

The Stichting Gebouwd Erfgoed Suriname (Suriname Built Heritage Foundation) is pleased to learn of the of the CNULM interest in conducting an analysis of historic preservation in the Historic Inner City of Paramaribo, as part of a comparative research on built heritage preservation and UNESCO world heritage sites in the Caribbean. The stated objectives of the CNULM / APA / ICOMOS project are in keeping with the existing development thrust of reducing the carbon footprint and promoting greater accessibility and connectivity within the Historic Inner City of Paramaribo.

The outputs of this timely project will provide the Suriname Built Heritage Foundation with baseline data on Paramaribo's built heritage. It will also promote a greater understanding of the issues involved in effectively managing and integrating the city's heritage sites into the overall sustainable development of the Historic Inner City of Paramaribo. This will allow for constructive inputs and recommendations on how Paramaribo's historic core can be strengthened and promoted as a model for sustainable development, which can be replicated in other communities across Suriname.

The Suriname Built Heritage Foundation is a public, governmental entity responsible for the daily management of the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Historic Paramaribo. The Foundation is open to facilitating the CNULM /APA / ICOMOS research team in conducting research related activities in the Historic Inner City of Paramaribo. We would be pleased to assist in providing contacts and arranging interviews with key local stakeholders, as well as securing existing policy documents and legislation for review by the research team. The Suriname Built Heritage Foundation welcomes the opportunity to work with the CNULM/ APA/ ICOMOS research team on this project in an effort to promote a more sustainable Historic Inner City of Paramaribo.

Sincerely yours,

Stichting Gebouwd Erfgoed Suriname (SGES)
