

Course

Digital Diplomacy:

The Role of Emerging Technologies in Strengthening Democracy

Within the framework of the Committee on Juridical and Political Affairs (CAJP)

Considering the swift global and regional progress in the adoption of emerging technologies by both public and private sectors, and in response to the growing trend of widespread use of Artificial Intelligence, it is crucial to bolster our understanding to reinforce regulatory and regional frameworks with ethical and responsible principles in this era of digital transformation. Consequently, regional agreement agendas, in tandem with the global digital transformation agenda, have placed greater emphasis on these issues, resulting in numerous multilateral negotiations on these topics.

DATE
February 15, 2024
10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Check the agenda here

Venue: Ruben Dario Room, GSB/OAS Building 1889 F St. NW, Washington D.C.

Language: Spanish, English, French, and Portuguese with simultaneous interpretation

FORMAT

In-person for Permanent Mission Delegates to the OAS, with virtual transmission for officials in the capital cities of the Ministries of Foreign Affairs of the Member States.

Any Permanent Mission delegate may participate in the course, regardless of the Permanent Council Commission or technical area of the General Secretariat they work with.

Free registration!

Limited spots

Registration deadline: February 13, 2024

Course objective

Enhance understanding of the mechanisms and instruments governing digital transformation in the Americas, aimed at strengthening democracy and subject to negotiation in multilateral forums.

Additionally, participants in this course will acquire knowledge about various emerging technologies and their implications for governmental institutions and the public.

Upon completion, participants will have expanded their knowledge of digital transformation terms, concepts, tools, and their applications. They will be capable of identifying and addressing the development of strategies and multilateral negotiations in this field.

APPLY HERE

The course is conducted in a workshop format, blending keynote lectures delivered by renowned experts in the field for knowledge transfer, with interactive participation through questions and answers using the virtual application, Mentimeter. The course will be moderated by the Department for Effective Public Management at the OAS.

WHAT WILL YOU LEARN IN THIS COURSE?

- 1. Useful terms, concepts, and tools in digital diplomacy
- 2. The impact of emerging technologies on diplomacy and democracy
- 3. Cutting-edge cases in digital diplomacy
- 4. Conditions that have enabled successful digital transformation in other regions.

Participants who attend in person will receive a digital certificate awarded by the OAS School of Governance and the Presidency of the Committee on Juridical and Political Affairs of the OAS.

For more information, please contact

MMora@oas.org

OAS | School of GOVERNANCE